

I use dance as a way to physically and artistically challenge and inspire individuals. The goal is to promote self knowledge while giving a sense of accomplishment and increasing one's community while creating stronger physical bodies and an enhanced ability for control of the mind. That strength helps to encourage young students to grow and be proud of that growth.